

Protect your data, your way: a local, smarter approach to cyber defence

In today's digital world, cyber threats are not just a challenge—they are a constant reality. Cyber threats are growing, regulations are tightening, and you are tasked with staying secure without losing operational momentum. Sound familiar? That is where we come in.

At Sopra Steria, we do not simply offer a standard Security Operations Centre (SOC) service. Instead, we deliver a comprehensive Cyber Defence Centre—a proactive, modular, and customer-focused approach to cybersecurity. We understand the unique challenges faced by organisations in the Benelux region and beyond, and our solution is tailored to deliver unparalleled security.

The small giant with global expertise

We pride ourselves on being a “small giant”—a local team that leverages the extensive resources and experience of a global leader. With over 60 highly skilled cybersecurity experts in the Netherlands and Cyber Defence Centres across Europe and beyond, we combine local presence with world-class capabilities. This ensures you benefit from a team that understands your market while drawing on best practices and innovation from across Europe.

Why our clients choose us

- 1. Trusted security partner: Clients value our ability to work directly within their environments, fostering a partnership rooted in trust and transparency.
- 2. Data sovereignty: Your data stays in your environment, fully owned and controlled by you.
- 3. Local presence with global support: A local team that understands your business, supported by global expertise.

What differentiates us

We go beyond being a remote SOC that merely sends alerts; our team collaborates closely with your organisation to deliver actionable advice, ensuring you know exactly what steps to take and when. With dynamic dashboards providing real-time, 24/7 insights tailored to your unique threats and priorities, you are always in control.

Additionally, our modular services are designed to adapt to your needs, and we can offer scalable security without the expense of complex customisations. By delivering sector-specific threat intelligence, we ensure our solutions are both relevant and effective.

The world is how we shape it

□□ Sopra Steria is one of the founding members of our Microsoft Security customer connections programme. Since 2021, Sopra Steria has influenced over 50 new features across 12 of our security solutions. Collectively, their members have achieved our annual 'Rockstar Team' award for the last two years running. Their dedication to improving Microsoft products on behalf of their customers is both noteworthy and commendable. □□
